OLELO HOAKAKA

(Preface)

This book of hymns is the culmination of efforts put forth by a number of Hawaiian Elders and Missionaries covering a period of about thirty-five years. Elders Jacob F. Gates, Joseph H. Dean, Frederick Beesley, Charles C. Bush and others were zealous in the work of translating as they were desirous that the Hawaiian Saints should be able to sing the songs of Zion in their native language. Recently, others have aided in the work of translating and revising, so that songs will be found herein that are suitable for all the gatherings of the Church and also for the home circle. The poetic language of the people may thus be preserved in hymns of praise and adoration.

The work of making further translations and of compiling and publishing the volume has devolved upon a committee composed of Elders Clarence Kinney, Akiona Kauka, George P. Mossman, Joseph D. Daynes, Joseph F. Smith III, and William M. Waddoups, who labored under the direction of President Elias Wesley Smith.

It is to be hoped that joy and gladness will fill the hearts of all who join in singing praises from Na Mele O. Ziona.
